

My Circle of Control

Think about the things you can control and the things you cannot control in your life. We call this our 'Circles of Control'. The smaller inner circle is all the things you can control and change, whereas the bigger outside circle is all the things you cannot control or change.

the weather

I can control...

my actions

other people's actions

I cannot control...

